

Liver Shrinking Diet

Full Liquids

The purpose of the pre-op diet is to reduce the size of the liver prior to surgery through a high protein and low carb/low fat liquid meal plan. As you decrease daily carbohydrate intake and the stores of glycogen (sugar) in your liver, you can greatly reduce the size of the organ. This allows the surgeon to better access to your stomach which lies under the liver. This is a very low calorie diet and protein will be very important to help keep you feeling full. Aim for at least 60 grams protein/day. The first couple of days seem to be the hardest; hunger sensations should decrease as your body adjusts to the calorie level.
